

WATER-SAFE SOLUTIONS: Locking Tambour Doors

The Challenge

An oil company had security concerns for an existing file storage area in their cramped file room. As well they were very concerned with protecting the files against water damage. Adding hinged doors to the shelving units was not an option because the limited space did not allow the doors to swing open properly.

The Solution

Locking Tambour Doors with a narrow profile and full frontal coverage were added to the existing file storage units. The tops and backs of the shelving were sealed with silicone. The combination of the Tambour doors and sealing gave the protection and physical security that was essential.
