

Mizer Mobile Systems: Special End Panels

The Challenge

A retail shoe outlet wanted to maximize its storage of inventory, maintain good visual exposure for the product, and streamline inventory retrieval.

The store owners wanted to make the best possible use of the small space available.

The Solution

A manual mobile system was provided to meet storage capacity requirements. Further, keeping more inventory on the sales floor ensured staff would have easy access to stock right when it was needed. Slatwall end panels were used, which both met aesthetic concerns and provided valuable display space.

A practical solution was provided for both space efficiency and inventory capacity.
